

Adrijana Višnjić Jevtić, PhD is an assistant professor at the University of Zagreb, Faculty of Teacher Education. She has 20 years of experience working as an early childhood teacher. She is taking part in several educational projects. Her research interests are early childhood education, cooperation between families and educational institutions and early childhood teachers' competences and professionalism. She is a member of OMEP, EECERA and TACTYC.